Her Life Was Despaired of for Quite a Time and Her Tongue Was Absolutely Useless. After being deprived of the use of her voice for over ten months, during which time she could not utter a sound, the faculty of speech has suddenly returned to Mrs. George W. Patterson. Mrs. Patterson's home is in Meadsville, Linn County, Mo., and for a month she has been a patient at the St. Louis Baptist Hospital at Garrison and Frankli

Mrs. Patterson told her experience to Post-Dispatch reporter Tuesday.
"It was on the 27th of last September," said she, "that I met with the accident which cost me my voice and which came near killing me. "With my husband and two children I was returning home after a visit to St. Louis. We were on a Burlington train and just after we left Annada, a town about seventy-five miles from St. Louis, the track. It was a fast mail train and was going at full speed.

"The engine left the track and the five coaches were derailed. I felt the train toppling over and knew no more for a long time. There were forty persons injured in the wreck, seven of them seriously.

"When I regained consciousness I was at Hannibal, Mo. I was kept in a hotel there for ten days. I had suffered internal injuries and the physicians said I would never recover. My face was badly lacerated, but these wounds gave but little trou-ble and soon healed. My throat was injured, just how I do not know. After they told my hus-band there was no hope for me, he insisted on bringing me to St. Louis and placing me under the care of Dr. Morris of the St. Louis Baptist Hospital. I told him there was no use, but he said he would not feel satis-fied until he had exhausted every agency that might restore me to health.

"I arrived at St. Louis on June 17. Dr. Morris at once took charge of my case. First he performed an operation for my internal injuries. This was successful, and my general health began to improve.

I don't know the name of the treatment nor how he did it. All I know is that he said it was an electric treatment, and I know

Allen, a lad of 14, intrusted to Struve's care about two months ago when he was in Germany.

A Post-Dispatch reporter saw the boy at the residence of Mrs. Elizabeth Reden of 1716 Papin street, where he took refuge last Thursday. He says that within two months Struve has beaten him four times with a heavy stick for no other cause than his failure to secure work. Yellow bruises on the boy's shoulders are plainly visible.

The reporter also saw Struve, who denies that he ever touched the boy, and says the marks about his body were received in a street fight with other urchins.

Neighbors of Struve believe the story of the lad to be greatly exaggerated. They say be is inclined to be wild, and needs the application of the rod occasionally in the way of reasonable discipline.

Oscar Allen's parents reside in Juesten, Germany, and are in comfortable circumstances, but the little fellow is delighted with St. Louis, and scouts the suggestions that he go back to his parents in the old country.

The absence of the prisoners was not discovered until breakfast this morning. They are said to have gone out at 9 o'clock last night. The bloodhounds only traced them to the street. They probably had outside assistance, and it is thought a buggy was in waiting for them, which would account for the dogs losing the scent. Mc-Kenzie is a pale-faced, light-haired negro. He killed John Linhart for money some weeks ago. Norville is an ex-convict and is under indictment for assault with intent to kill Rayburn of the Missourl penitentiary. CHICAGO, July 14.-A special to the Times-Herald from Washington, D. C., should the withdrawals of gold continue at the present rate another bond issue will be rall, or, if possible, to the first of hext year.

The withdrawals Monday were for $75,200, of which $375,000 is for immediate exportation. The balance will probably be hoarded. This disposition to hoard gold has been notably apparent for several days. On Saturday nearly $125,000 was withdrawn for this purpose, and on the day before the withdrawals were nearly $1,000,000, a large part of which was to be kept in this country.

The gold reserve to day is $15,000.

just been formed by St. Louis bituminous coal distributors and the mine operators of Illinois.

Rumors of such a trust have been frequent during the past few months. Tangible evidence that the trust has been formed is furnished by a circular just issued announcing that a rate of 95 cents a ton at East St. Louis on bituminous coal will take effect Wednesday or Thursday.

This will be an increase of 15 cents a ton, the prevailing price being 80 cents a ton at East St. Louis, although some operators are delivering it in East St. Louis at 75 cents.

The 15 cents a ton increase in the wholesale price means an advance in the retail price to 10 cents a bushel, standard coal. The trust contemplates an advance shortly to 11 cents a bushel, and when the expected price of $1.20 a ton is reached the householder will be compelled to pay from 12½ cents to 14 cents a bushel. This rate will be reached about the beginning of winter. In other words, the consumer will begin to sweat about the time cold weather sets in. The trust has been in existence, it is stated, about eight weeks, having been finally consummated on June 1, at a meeting of distributors and operators in the office of the Consolidated Coal Co., in the Laclede under the consumer will probably and proven the strong points of difference."

Coal shipped to East St. Louis is always consigned to a distributor. If the operator should desire to sell the coal himself, the distributors have to turn it over to him. By this arrangement the distributor pays the freight, 35 cents a ton, but is repaid by the operator, leaving the latter 55 cents a ton for his product.

The arrangement compels all dealers to purchase either direct from the operator or through one of the six distributors, and in either event compels him to pay whatever the trust demands. The consumer thus has to stand the advance and pay the five cents tax collected by the distributor for guaranteeing the price to the operator.

Charles Maguire of the Maguire Coal Co. was very reticent about the matter when seen by a Post-Dispatch reporter. He stated he had heard that a trust had been formed, but denied that his company was in it.

J. J. Sylvester of the Sylvester Coal Co. professed complete ignorance, but said that a movement merely to advance prices would be justified, as the coal business had long been conducted at a loss. "The rumor which has reached you," said Mr. J. C. Simpson, Vice-President and General Manager of the Consolidated Coal Co., "probably arises from a movement now in progress on the part of the cereators of the smaller mines in the Belleville district to place the sale of their coal in the hands of the larger companies. This course has been pur-ued by many of these operators for years past, but not to as great extent as this year.

"The object, of course, is to endeavor to get a better price for their coal, the prices recently current having been so low as to be ruinous to all concerned. The miners on the one hand have suffered their wages to be reduced until a point has been reached which can be no longer endured, and the operators, on the other hand, in many cases, have been keeping their mines open at a positive loss.

"But," said Dr. Mott to a Post-Dispatch reporter, "it seems that the Democrats at Chicago last week robbed us of our issue. Their platform is about as emphatic for silver as the English language can express it. There are, however, thousands of silver advocates who do not like to train under a Democratic banner, and whether our convention will indorse the entire action of the Democratic banner, and whether our convention will indorse the entire action of the Democratic banner, and the forestold until the convention meets.

"The Silverites made the date of their convention to tally with that of the Populists because at the time it looked as if the Democratic Convention would be controlled by the gold standard men, and it was a foregone conclusion that the Republican convention would declare for gold, therefore, the Populists being the only party that it looked like could be then relied upon for silver, we thought it advisable to meet at a time when we could be in touch with it, and possibly make a coalition with it as to candidates. Conditions have changed since then, thanks to our campaign of education."

SOMETHING ABOUT SALEM, THE HOME OF HIS FATHER.

COMFORT-LOVING The People Now Enjoying a Visit From One of Whom They Feel Proud.

SALEM, Ill., July 14.-The inhabitants of this quiet town were rather slow in getting about to-day. The demonstration of last night appears to have been rather too much for them, and everybody, weary from the unaccustomed loss of sleep, remained in bed until the sun was high in the heavens. Then they began to assemble in small groups about the Court-house square and to talk of the wonderful display that had been made in honor of the return of William J. Bryan, the Presidential nomines of the J. Bryan, the Presidential nominee of the Democratic party. The oldest settlers, and the town is full of them, recounted and the town is full of them, recounted stories and anecdotes of Mr. Bryan when he was known as a barefooted boy in this region thirty years ago. Prophets among these old residents were numerous. They said they always did know that "Billy" Bryan was going to be somebody. They all knew his father, Judge Silas Bryan, who settled here in the early forties. Incidents in the life of the old Judge were recounted, and from what the old settlers say he was in his time the best pleader and jury lawyer in this part of the State, and he had the reputation of being a remarkably clever campaigner and stump speaker.

This town was laid out by the early white settlers long before Illinois was admitted to the union as a State. The main thoroughfare of the city, the one on which Mr. Bryan's birthplace stands, was the old National road surveyed from Pittsburg to Cincinnati, to Vincannes and St. Louis. It was over this road that the United States mails were transported. At the age of 19 Silas Bryan settled in this section, coming from Culpepper Court-house, Virginia, where he was born. His father was a soldier in the war of the revolution. On settling here Bryan began the study of law. A year or so later he was admitted to practice before the courts of the State. A few months later he married Miss Jennings, daughter of a prominent farmer and one of the early settlers of the State. A few months later he married miss Jennings, daughter of a prominent farmer and one of the early settlers of the State.

Being a thrifty man, Bryan prospered and soon was able to put a little home up. It was a little story and a haif frame building with a porch running the entire length along the front. It had four rooms down stairs and three up stairs and a hailway through the center. It was painted white and had green blinds. This house still stands and is now the center of a traction for all visitors to this place, for it was here that William J. Bryan was born. It is not different from scores of other houses along the streets are broad and every hen round every house these restful inventions are swup.

The old stone Court House, where for 12 years Judge Silas Bryan sat upon the bench, still stands in the center of the public square, in the center of the village. This Court House was built according to the early settlers, along in 1856 or 1856, and the old trees that were planted around it at the time of its building still stand and furnish luxuriant shade for the citizens, who, during the summer, have much leisure time.

to breakfast. They had spring chicken and fried potatoes, and blackberries grown in the yard.

With them at breakfast were J. W. Baird and his wife, Mr. Bryan's sister, and Misses Nannie and Mamie Bryan, two attractive looking young women who have just finished their college education.

After breakfast, Mrs. Bryan remained at home while Mr. Bryan went to the courthouse to attend to some business of his mother's estate. At dinner time, Mr. Bryan, his wife and two unmarried sisters, went to the home of their aunt, Mrs. D. S. Marshall, and in the afternoon he drove about town and out to the old farm upon which his father lived during the last years of his life.

Mr. Bryan himself is a member of the Presbyterian church, but his father was a Baptist, and according to Col. Thomas E. Merritt, who in the early days stumped the county with him, believed there was no salvation for a man unless he was baptized by immersion. But there were not enough Baptists in the town to support a preacher regularly, and so it was that services were only held in the Baptist Church twice a month, and in that way it came to pass that William J. Bryan attended Presbyterian services, and finally became a member of that church.

The controversy between the South Sid sidents and the electric light companies growing out of the ternado has developed humorous feature.

At the last meeting of the Board of Public Improvements Judge Klein cited the case of the Phoenix Brewery as one in which the electric company had succeeded in reestablishing its commercial lighting the day after the cyclone, while the public lighting in the vicinity was entirely neglected. Judge Klein was sure of this because he had seen the lights.

Mr. Herbert Wagner, for the electric company, explained how easy it was to run a mile or two of wire from the main line on Broadway out to the bæwery, which is somewhere near Jefferson avenue. The case was debated at some length.

A day or two ago Supervisor O'Reilly was taking a trip over the district and on his rounds stopped at the brewery. He saw no wires running into the brewery, so he hunted up the engineer and questioned him. The engineer said:

"We are all right. We have been using our own private plant ever since last January."

"The treatment is always the same—ice cold applications to the centers most susceptible to congestion and a reduction of temperature all around as soon as possible. The shock is severe, but it seems to be the only successful method so far discovered."

CARLOS AGUIRRE AND ANTONIO MACEO OF CUBA.

THEY WERE REPORTED SLAIN.

Yet Aguirre Is in New York on a Mission From Gomez and Maceo Is Full of Fight.

NEW YORK, July 14.-The Herald this morning says: The Spanish reports at Havana and Madrid say that Carlos M. Aguirre, Chief of Staff and nephew of Jose Maria Aguirre, is dead. Nevertheless Aguirre arrived here yesterday from Tampa. He was accompanied by Dr. Joaquin De Castillo. Col. Aguirre comes here upon an important mission direct from Gomez, Maceo and his uncle, Jose Aguirre. In an interview he said:

"Last summer we pursued a Fabian policy. This summer it will be a policy of vigor. The fever is eating up the Spanish army and they are in a terrible condition. We propose to take advantage of their weakness and shall force the conflict. Antonio Maceo is no more dead than I am. I left him on July 4, full of health and brim full of fight. Orders had just been given that he, with Aguirre, was to concentrate his troops for a series of desperate blows at the close of this month or early next month.

at the close of this month or early next month.

"Before leaving Cuba my special duty was to look after Gen. Weyler's trocha in Pinar Del Rio. I know every inch of it. There has not been a day when we could not cross it at will. Maceo can go through the line whenever he is ready. He is only waiting for Gomez to say the word. And Gomez is now hurrying westward from Camaguey with the new forces and new supplies which he went there for.

"The lines of communication between Gomez and Antonio Maceo and the other generals of the Cuban army are unbroken. Maceo's last order, issued just before I left Cuba, was to burn every house, shed or improvised barrack which can afford shelter for Spanish troops, so that they will be forced to stand the exposure of the Spanish.

Maceo has issued a circular to the Spanish soldiers advising them to abandon Spain and to join their Cuban brothers. He points out that they are ill-fed, poorly clothed, badly paid and unappreciated in the Spanish army, and promises them good treatment, good food and a good home for their families and a future for themselves under the Cuban Republic. Many of the young Spanish troops have taken advantage of the offer."

"We lander almost under the guns of Moro Castle, but only after several races with Spanish warships. Near Sombereo Point we met a Spanish cruiser which cased us to Salt Key. The cruiser was inally distanced, and then we were chased four days by a Spanish merchantman with mounted guns. The merchantman fired at us repeatedly, but we escaped. Finally we approached Caps San Antonio, Pinar del Rio Province. There we met another Spanish cruiser and had to run for it under fire. We managed to get away, however, and the next night landed just east of Havana. We passed, during the afternoon, within range of the Governor and made an effective protest.

Further Modifications of the Measur Are Demanded.

LONDON, July 14.—The political situation has been only partly religived by the yielding of Mr. Gerald Balfour, Chief Secretary for Ireland, to the pressure directed by Mr T. W. Russell, member of Parliament for the South Division of Tyrone, and Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, Colonial Secretary, the South Division of Tyrone, and Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, Colonial Secretary, for modifications of the amendments to the Irish land bill.

There is a continuance to-day of the demands of Mr. Russell and others for further modification of the measure, while the press and people generally are giving expression to sentiments of extreme disgust at the feebleness displayed by the Government. Conservatives admit that if it were not for the hopeless divisions that exist between Liberals and Radicals, the Government would be in a serious plight.

Mr. T. P. O'Connor, discussing this subject in his paper, the Sun, writes: "The plain truth is that, though Mr. Russell was the outward and visible agent of this collapse, the whole affair was a personal triumph for Mr. Chamberlain and the landlords. The Cabinet would have paid little attention to Russell's protests, as, with their large majority in the House of Commons, they could easily afford to disregard the clamor of a few Ulster men. But Russell is Joe's protege and follower, and Balfour, who would smile at the idea of being disconcerted by Russell, retires from the list before a salaried official. As Joe cannot afford to lose a supporter, he has cunningly seized the chance to assert himself and his friends, and to humiliate the house of Cecil."

IOWA REPUBLICANS

Forecast of the State Convention Which Meets Wednesday.

DES MOINES, Io., July 14.-Candidate and delegates for the State Republican Convention to be held here Wednesday are beginning to arrive. Many of them came convention to be held here Wednesday are beginning to arrive. Many of them came several days ago. The prospects are for a largely attended convention, though the weather is oppressively hot here. The main interest centers in three offices—that of Secretary of State, Railroad Commissioner and Judge of the Supreme Court. For Secretary of State there are three candidates—G. L. Dobson of Des Moines, as Ed C. Hassell of Lemars and G. A. Hansford of Charles City. Their chances are in about the order named, though the situation may change materially. For Railroad Commissioner, F. A. Campbell, ex-Commissioner of Des Moines and John Kemble of Muscatine are contesting for the nomination with Ima. Dawson, the present incumbent, who was appointed by dov. Jackson to fill a vacancy caused by death.

The fight for Judge is more complicated, the candidates being not fewer than a dozen, including many prominent district judges. It is thought that S. W. Weaver of Iowa Falls will lead in the first ballot. The outcome is uncertain. State Treasurer Herriott and State Auditor McCarthy will be renominated without opposition. For elector-at-large, only one man is prominently mentioned, ex-Congressman E. H. Conger of Des Moines.

Following closely the receipt of this news came a second cable from Nassau announcing the total loss at Abaco, Bahama Island, of the schooner Henry C. Woodruff, Capt. Trainer, bound from Wilmington, N. C., to Haytl. She was wrecked July 5 on the small island of Abaco, which lies just to the northeast of the Great Bahama island, rear which the McManemy was lost. The Woodruff was under charter to load logwood at Hayti for Philadelphia. This makes three vessels owned at Philadelphia wrecked on the Bahamas within the past two weeks.

The big, hearty, healthy man is a continual irritation to his dyspeptic friend. One man in a hundred is perfectly healthy. The other 99 have some digestive trouble, and perhaps more than 50 per cent. of these could trace their trouble to that most recognized and perhaps more than 50 per cent. of these could trace their trouble to that most recognized and perhaps more than 50 per cent. and perhaps more than so per cent. of these could trace their trouble to that most prevalent evil—constipation. It's a simple thing of itself, but like many simple things, it may grow and become complicated. Constipation is the root of nine-tenths of the sickness of men, and of a large proportion of the sickness of men, and of a large proportion of the sickness of women. It can be cured easily, naturally and quickly. There is no reason save that of carelessness why it should cause the trouble that it does. Nature is continually working as hard as she can to throw off impurities, and to force out poisonous refuse matter. Nature is not a dray-horse and should not be overworked. Nature is systematic. Some little thing may interfere with the system, and cause serious derangement. The removal of this little impediment sets the wheels working again without any trouble.

This is exactly what Dr. Pierce's Pleasam Pellets do. They assist nature in a gentle, healthful, efficient way. There is nothing violent about their action, and yet it is just as certain as if it were twice as violent. The use of the "Pellets" doesn't derange the system in any way, and once it is in order, you can stop taking item. There are unscrupulous druggists, who will tell you that something else is "just as good." They are mistaken—or worse. Whether they are ignorant or untruthful matter little to you if you do not set the "Pellets" Insist as good."

pecial to the Post-Dispatch.
MEXICO, Mo., July 14.—Mr. Wallace ! ord of this place, who was the He hamp Clark's private secretary during serm in Congress, is a personal friend william J. Bryan. For the Post-Dispato-day he wrote the following:

HIS PERSONALITY.

In the highest sense of the word. Being himself a true friend, he readily begets true friendship.

Mr. Bryan's glossy, dark brown hair is beginning to grow a little thin on the top of his head, but below the brim of his hat it is still seen in its luxuriant and primal beauty. Like the gentlemen of the old school, his face is clean shaven and encircling a plain turned-down collar he wears in winter a black "string" tie and in summer one of white lawn. His large and eloquent mouth readily breaks into a smile that is genial and eloquent. He dresses uniformly in black, his coat being generally a sack of average length.

The oratory which stirred the great Colliseum to its uttermost ends and, breaking its bounds, re-echoed in the hearts and minds of a great nation, is but one of the strong elements of Mr. Bryan's personality. Judged by both the ancient and modern standards, he is doubtless the greatest orator who has sat in Congress since the days of Webster, Benton, Calhoun and Clay.

As an orator he is both born and made.

Clay.

As an orator he is both born and made. His father was long known as the "Little Giant of Southern Illinois." To a handsome presence, strong lungs, clear voice and ready wit, he has added the graces of the elocutionist's art, the knowledge of the world's history and a familiarity with English literature. Satire, invective, the rapler of wit and the battleax of truth are his weapons.

English literature. Satire, invective, the rapler of wit and the battleax of truth are his weapons.

Major McKinley prides himself on his ability as a stump speaker, but let him look to his laurels. He may be overtaken by the fate that fell to the lot of ex-Gongressman Connell, of the old Omaha district. In 1890 the Democrats of that district, in looking about to find a man who was willing to be sacrificed, hit upon Bryan, a young Lincoln lawyer, and put him up for Connell to knock down. Bryan made a fine speech, accepting the momination for which no one else would have given a dime, and remarked, as he wound up his speech, that he did not propose to be sacrificed. He challenged Connell to a joint debate and was gratified to receive a lightning acceptance. Connell was a good debater, and expected to see Bryan withdraw after the first meeting. But presto! change! the bottom rail's on top! No statesinan ever got such a drubbing since Webster replied to Hayne. After the second night, in which Connell was humiliated and made to resemble the King of the Lilliputians in the hands of Gulliver, before an immense audience, he pleaded illness and declined to continue the debates.

The Latins loved to say, "facilis descensus averno"—easy the road to distruction—and so Connell found it. His boasted majority of 5,000 votes melted away before the matchless eloquence of this young man, fresh from the Justices' courts of Lincoln, and in its stead was rolled up the superb Democratic victory that gave Bryan a majority of more than six thousand. Speaker Charles Frederick Crisp broke all precedent and appointed him a member of the Committee on Ways and Means. When the session ended Bryan went home and found that he was located in a district with the kind of Republican majority that one might look for in Vermont. Undaunted, he went to work and won by a narrow margin. It was afterwards found that this margin would have been increased by one thousand had the printing of the tickets not been manipulated. He declined to run again.

MR. BRYAN IN WASHINGTON. While in Washington Mr. Bryan lived in a modest two-story stone house a short distance southeast of the Capitol, at 131 B street, S. E. On the second floor was his den, lined with book cases that could readily be moved in case of departure. The room was small, snug and cosy. It looked like the abode of a studious worker. The large desk was littered with papers, documents and letter fles; on a stand at one side stood a typewriter.

One day while sitting there with Mr. Bryan I heard a knock at the door; it was opened and admitted a sweet-faced young matron of medium size. Mr. Bryan introduced me—it was his wife and mother of his three children. She at once impresses the observer as one thoroughly in accord with her husband's work and ambition. She studied law and secured the right to practice at the bar in order that she might be a more fit companion and helper to her husband. Honor to whom honor is due; if Mr. Bryan is elected President, his modest little helpmate will be in a double sense the first lady of the land.

As I stood there chatting with this devoted pair, I could not help noting the proud glance which lighted up the countenance of the husband as he gazed on the happy face of the wife.

The child showed great interest it the probacts of the elephant and said "Papa, I never knew why they called that thing a trunk, but now I see that it is cause the elephant packs his hay in it."

Mr. Bryan has no trouble in preparing a speech—he does it after the manner of the interinting calculator. I have often been

J. F. HOW'S WILL.

The Widow Gets the Bulk of the Estat and Has Large Discretionary Powers.

James F. How's will was filed Tuesday morning. He devises all his household furniture, etc., to his wife.

He then bequeaths one-tenth of all his property or the proceeds therefrom, except such as is otherwise devised, to such charitable institutions as his wife may select. His desire is that in making the selection, his wife shall give preference to those especially designed for the benefit of children or aged people; and he prefers the permanent endowment of a room or cot in the same to be known by the name of his wife,—if there be that one; but if there be two, he desires one to be known by the name of the wife—Filza A. Any litigation or contest with her as executrix or trustee upon the part of any legatee is to work a forfeiture of his or her interest. She is not required to give bond as executrix or trustee. bers of the army, in conformity to an oc-casional custom, paraded the streets alone. It fell to the lot of Miss Meyer to carry the big bass drum, and bending beneath its weight she coaxed such music from it as her limited strength and accomplishments in that line would admit of. Owing to the laxity of the police the cele-bration of the Fourth had already begun, and the lassies were bombarded with fire-crackers as they marched west on Main street.

bration of the Fourth had already begun, and the lassies were bombarded with fire-crackers as they marched west on Main street.

Near Spring street a cannon cracker was thrown, which fell in front of a horse, and the animal took fright.

The parade was immediately stopped, and the banners lowered, but a hue and cry was raised against the girl, and under pressure from his superiors, Chief of Police Obst swore out a warrant the next day, charging her with making loud and unusual noises.

The firecracker crowd swore against her by the book, and Magistrate Needles, before whom the case was tried, went counter to a former decision in a similar case, and fined the young lady, as above stated.

Sensitive to the injustice of the infliction, she declared she would not permit her relatives to pay the fine and expressed a readiness to be taken to jail.

In the expectation that she would alter her decision, she was given time by the Chief of Police, but the pressure finally became so strong that he was compelled to call upon the magistrate for the issuance of a mittimus, which was done Monday.

Tuesday afternoon it was served upon her, and she said she was ready to go a jail. She was turned over to the custody of Turnkey Harry Burke, and ushered into the women's quarters, at present occupied by a half dozen vagrants and women of bad character. There she will remain until September 1, unless she changes her martyrlike attitude.

The incarceration of the young woman, who is only 18 years old and of eminently respectable family, and against whom no greater reproach has ever been breathed other than that she has construed literally and as imposing a sacred obligation the divine injunction to "go out into the highways and byways and compel them to come in," is an incident, and the most shameful, of the vindictive warfare which has been waged upon the fire and blood soldiers ever since they pitched their tents in Belleville.

secret of their hostility to the saloons, and sentiment is overwheimingly against them. This first manifested itself in outbreaks of the mob spirit, which was fostered by the Mayor and City Council, and instructions given to the police to give the mob full sway.

Mayor Sunkel finally overstepped the limit by declaring to a reporter that he limit by declaring to a reporter that he limit by declaring to a reporter that he intended to drive the Army out of the city by force. Such strong remonstrance was made by the better elements that he was compelled to retrace his steps and give orders for the suppression of the disgraceful demonstrations.

orders for the suppression of the disgraceful demonstrations.

They stopped at the utterance of the word and have so far not been permitted to break out anew.

Another tack was then taken and, under the direction of the Mayor and Members of the Council, nearly all the members of which are botterly opposed to the work of the army, charges were made on the most trivial and filmsy pretexts, a drove of witnesses marshaled and with the weight of the whole city administration behind the prosecution, convictions were easily obtained.

Miss Clara Meyer, a bright and pretty member of the Salvation Army at Belleville, was incarcerated in the County Jallat at that place Tuesday, and barring miraculous interposition, such as caused the liberation of Paul and Silas, she will remain there forty-eight days, or until she has liquidated at the rate of 50 cents per day a fine of $3 and trimmings, aggregating $24.

On the evening of July 2 the female memonths of the county of the same offense were resting, and he was very reluctantly sent to the rock pile.

There are many others at large whose liberty is a menace to the peace if not to the safety of the people, but these are not molested.

The notice was not send to him from Pittsburg, but it was mailed to him from Washington by "Uncle Nick," after the latter returned to League headquarders, from the special meeting of the Board of Directors.

from the special meeting of the Board of Directors.

Mr. Young says the League will insist upon the payment of the fine imposed, in spite of all that may be done by Tebeau or those who are acting for him. He says that the League is not worried by the threat of an injunction by Mr. Robinson. The League is a business organization, and it has the right to prescribe the rules and regulations for the conduct of its business. It will never do for the League to compromise the Tebeau case. It has gone so far that it must be carried to the end in order to preserve the discipline of the clubs interested. It has been demonstrated on previous occasions that the court room is not the place for bail playing, and Patsy Tebeau ought to have sense enough to realize that fact. While Patsy is a good ball player and a winner, he is also notorious as one of the most offensive players in the League in his dealings with umpires. An example should be made of him in the interest of "Clean ball playing."

MORE TROUBLE.

Robinson Enjoins Stuckey and His Men From Protesting Pat Tebeau. LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 14.-An injunc tion was yesterday served through the Common Pleas Court of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, against President Stuckey of the Louisville Base Ball Club, Secretary Drey-Louisville Base Ball Club, Secretary Dreyfus, Manager McGunnigle and Capt. Miller, restraining them from protesting one of the games played here with the Cleveland club, and, further, from incertering with Capt. Tebeau in playing with the Cleveland team. The paper sets forth the fact that by prohibiting Tebeau from playing his vocation and means of subsistence are taken from him. The document is quite a lengthy one. While the injunction may have some effect, as far as the Louisville officials are concerned, it is not thought that it will be enforced by the League directors. BILLY HART.

To the Pitcher Is Due the Credit of the Browns' Great Victory.

It took the Browns twelve long inning to defeat the Senators yesterday. It was by long odds the best and most exciting game played on the home grounds this game played on the home grounds this year.

To Billy Hart belongs the major share of the credit due the Browns.

Billy pitched great ball all through, and it was his hard liner that tore through young Demontreville's hands in the twelfth and brought in the winning run.

It was a fearfully hot day—close and oppressive. They said in Pittsburg that Hart was not at his best in warm weather, but he pitched the finest kind of ball.

Tuck Turner made the star play of he day in the tenth. Selbach was on third and Joyce on second when, with one out, Abbey lifted a high fly to right. Turner settled himself in a position to throw, and when the ball touched his hands he swung his arms. It went to Murphy on a lovely bound, and by quick handling Morgan put it on the runner.

Joe Bullivan distinguished himself by great all-round playing. He got a hit every did not find it possible to do so. To Billy Hart belongs the major share of the credit due the Browns.

TABULES

Mr. George E. Foster of East Alton, Ill., relates that an acquaintance of his, one Edwin E. Edwards, a young man of 33 years of age, who is boss burner for a sewer pipe manufactory at Alton, Ill., used Ripans Tabules with marked success for a pain in the right side, which had caused him considerable trouble. The Tabules were brought to his notice by an attractive advertisement of a tree, representing the different diseases by the leaves and the Tabules by an ax at the tree's base, in a St. Louis paper. "This pain was so severe," said Mr. Edwards, "that I got but little rest or sleep, being unable to lie on that side and not accustomed to lying any other way. Dr. C. N. Pence, cor. 15th and Liberty sts., Alton, told me it was my liver, but as I had always been healthy I doubted him, but knowing something must be done I took his advice and treatment. which relieved me for a time, but was not lasting. I read some of the many advertisements about Ripans Tabules and concluded to try them and did so, and had used less than one-half dozen Tabules when the pain disappeared. Of course, I felt a little doubts as to whether it would return or not, so took a few more to be sure. The result has satisfied me that one dollar spent for Ripans Tabules will accomplish more than five dollars spent for so-called advice and treatment as meted out by the ordinary practitioner." The Tabules were procured of Wolf & Wilson Drug Co., 6th and Washington avenue, St. Louis, Mo., and there were six Tabules in a small vial and six vials placed in a white glazed pasteboard box, the box having a sliding lid. The Tabules were of a dark brown color. (Signed), November 1st, 1895, EDWIN E. EDWARDS, East Alton, Ill. One Gives Relief. Ripans Tabules are sold by druggists, or by mail t the price (50 cents a box) is sent to The Ripans themical Company, No. 10 Spruce st., New York. ample vial, 10 cents.

WALL STREET DEMOCRATS HAVE TROUBLE ORGANIZING.

MAY CHANGE THEIR PLANS.

They Are All Willing to Knife the Democracy, But Some Are Weak in the Knees.

The "Wall street Democrats" of St. Louis have not yet boited the Democratic National ticket and come out openly for McKinley and the gold platform.

They are preparing to do so, however, and in the course of a few days will have their plans well under way. The meeting of the diagruntled leaders of the local Wall street wing scheduled for this week may be held Wednesday or Thursday night.

It is almost certain to be held this week, and if the responses from the Wall street Democrats in other sections of the State come in promptly it may be held not later than Thursday.

Since sending out the first notices and originating the preliminary steps towards organization of the Wall street Democracy in Missouri the leaders have become more conservative.

It was given out plainly at first that there was to be complete and thorough repudiation of the Democratic candidates and platform. More than that, every member of the Western Wall Street Club was to pledge himself to vote for McKinley, protection and gold.

That was the understanding among the himself to vote for McKinley, protection and gold.

That was the understanding among the leaders. When they began to receive responses from the rank and file of the Wall-street faction it was brought out pretty clearly that there were many expected to actively share in the work for McKinley and the Wall street platform who objected most vigorously to coming out from under cover.

The Change Is a Promotion for the St. Louis Commander in Line With the Policy of the Army.

Brigadier George French has returned from the recent Brigadiers' Council of the alvation Army, held in New York City. The council decided to shift the various commands, and in the changes Brigadier French will be relieved from the command

"For seven and one-half years," says Gen. French, "Brigadier Evans has been in New York. During that time the work in that city has prospered wonderfully. When he began the work there were only eleven organized posts in the city. Now there are seventy-seven.

"Gen. Evans is about 60 years old. He has a son in the army, who is older than I am. He is a Brigadier in Philadelphia. Gen. Evans has been identified with the army almost since its organization, and he is loved and esteemed by all who know him. Throughout the Ceptral Chief Division, which he has so long commanded, and to which I am to be transferred, he is affectionately called Father Evans.

"I sincerely regret to leave St. Louis," continued Brigadier French. "I hav formed so many pleasant acquaintances during my stay in the city, and our work has been so successful that I cannot help but regret to leave. "However, we are taught that four years

A Strange Man Whose Actions and Appearance Made Mrs. McBreen Think He Was the Murderer.

George Taylor, the murderer of the Meeks family, who escaped from the Car-rollton jall a few days before he was to be hanged, is said to have been seen in St. Louis two weeks ago by Mrs. Eva McBreen, who keeps a rooming house at 504 South Sixth street, and Martin Kuhl, a lodging house keeper at 801 Morgan street.

They claim to have recognized him by his likenesses, which have appeared in the papers. Mrs. McBreen was the first to notice the resemblance. She stared at the suspect so hard that he went away and never returned, although he made an appointment with Mr. Kuhl to meet him en the night following. ich mess and his inability to earn a living he committeed suicide.

Claffey was 29 years old, and leaves a widow and two small children. Shortly after he gave up his employment he went to live with his parents at Eureka, Mo. His wife and her children made their home with her parents at 2018 O'Fallon street.

Claffey came to the city from time to time to see Dr. Kinder, and he made his last journey from Eureka Sunday.

He and his sister, Mrs. Fannie Byron, who accompanied him, stayed with the Magees at 2120 Division street, and Monday they called on Dr. Kinder, and he made his last journey from Eureka Sunday.

Claffey expressed an unwillingness to take any more medicine and Dr. Kinder did not prescribe for him. Instead he advised Claffey to go to the Alexian Brothers' Hospital at once and gave him a note to the physician in charge.

Mrs. Byron wanted her brother to enter the hospital Monday evening, but he begged her to wait until Tuesday morning, promising to go in the morning. Mrs. Byron consented and she and Claffey went the Magees house for the night.

The Magees live in two rooms and a kitchen and Claffey occupied the middle room, with Magee, the women sleeping in the front room.

At 6 o'clock Tuesday morning. Claffey got up, took a revolver, which he brought with him, and placed the muzzle to his right temple. He pulled the trigger, and the bullet entered his brain.

The report awakened the others, and they found Claffey lying in a pool of blood on the floor. He died in haif an hour. Mrs. Byron became almost hysterical when she saw her dead brother.

She ascribes his suicide solely to his sickness, his enforced idleness and his despair of recovery.

Dr. Kinder said that Claffey's brain was disordered by disease.

The body will be taken to Eureka for burlal.

The French people all over the world have celebrated that day each year since then. Those in St. Louis have been among the most enthustastic of the celebrants.

In 1880 the French residents of St. Louis organized the Society of the Fourteenth of July and held the first celebration simutaneously with that held in the mother country.

The seventeenth of these annual French fetes will be held to-night at Concordia Park at Thirteenth and Utah streets, An elaborate programme has been arranged, introducing French and American patriotic music, addresses in French and English can be a horse at the South Side track named John R. At 2 o'clock a m., in company with his new flame, he drove up to the lunch stand at the corner of Lucas avenue and North Fourteenth street and gave a wholesale order for chicken sandwiches. Until this year the proceeds of these celebrations have been set aside to meet the expenses of the next. It is seldom they fail to yield a net profit. When this occurs the members pay the deficit from their own pockets.

This year the net proceeds will be devoted to the relief of the sufferers from the tornado of May Zi, and will be turned over to the Merchants' Exchange General Relief Committee.

THERE WILL BE A FIGHT FOR THE ATTORNEY'S JOB.

A FIELD OF SIX CANDIDATES.

An Effort Will Be Made to Give Superintendent of Construction

Kelly His Conge. regular monthly meeting of the St. Louis School Board to-night unusually interest-

The most important will be the selection of a School Board attorney for a term of three years, which was postponed from the last meeting and which will be settled tonight unless the Republican faction thinks it will gain by another delay.

If the struggle for spoils does not consume too much time, the report of the Course of Study Committee will precipitate a wordy war. Those opposed to the extravagance recommended by the report point out that $4,788 was expended for maps in relief last year, and no occasion exists for spending $3,412 this year for forty-three sets additional. The maps show the mountains in relief, valleys depressed and all sivers of importance.

in relief, valleys depressed and all rivers of importance.

This recommendation is further opposed, together with that for an expenditure of $2,000 for geographical charts, and $5,000 a year for the School and Home as supplementary reading, on the ground that the most stringent economy is necessary in view of the fact that $90,000 will be required to repair the damage to school houses from the tornado.

The maps in relief are furnished by an Ohio concern which enjoys a complete monopoly in this line.

TO DUMP OR NOT TO DUMP

GRAVE QUESTION AGITATING WHARF COMMISSIONER STONE.

A CONFLICT OF ORDINANCES.

One Law Allows Citizens to Use His Dump Boat, But Another One Forbids the Use of the River.

has a hard luck story which, on the face of it, seems to be the genuine article. The trouble with the Commissioner is that he has too many laws to observe which he cannot observe unless he can do two different and distinctly opposed things at once. The Commissioner has been censured for doing things and he has been censured for not doing things, both of which he should not have done, according to which law he happened to be reading at the time. It is all on account of Col. Ed Butler's refusal to deliver to himself more garbage
